

The telephone company was sold to a large corporation that built two new brick structures for its operation. The first big outside industry came when the Hadley Corporation built a plant near Weaverville. It employed 250 persons and operated many years before moving to Asheville.

Two hardware stores began business in town. Many additional new homes were built, a large percentage by children of families who had lived here for years. About this time a federal survey was made which revealed that Weaverville had the highest rate of owner-occupied dwellings of any town in the State. 75% of the homes were occupied by owners who took great care of their homes.

History is a story of people and Weaverville had more than its share of outstanding citizens. Through the years there have been many accomplished musicians. Local writers are listed in North Carolina Histories. There have been good doctors and dentists and excellent lawyers. There are fine teachers and preachers who have left "footprints in the sands of time." There are cultural clubs, recreational and civic clubs, church and political organizations--each with its group of loyal workers.

Today Weaverville offers every cultural advantage of modern schools, music and book clubs, civic groups, Girl and Boy Scout troops, plus Parent Teacher Associations and Church activities. The motto chosen years ago is still applicable - Weaverville is "A Good Place for your Home."

Demographics

The 1980 Census cited the Town's population at 1,495. By the 1990 census, the Town had grown to a population of 2,107 which represented a 40.9% population increase in 10 years. However, as of July 1, 1999, according to North Carolina Office of State Planning, the Town has grown an additional 16.09% to a full time population of 2,446. The increase in population has occurred without annexation.

Government

The Town of Weaverville has the Council-Manager form of government. Legislative and policy making authority rests with a mayor and a five-member Board of Commissioners. The Mayor and Commissioners are elected every two years in a nonpartisan election held during odd-numbered years. The Board hires a Town Manager to carry out its policies, as well as to manage and direct the daily operation of the town.

The Town provides police protection, maintains streets, recreation and has a paid/volunteer fire department. The Town's water system provides water for not only the Town, but for a large section of north Buncombe County. The Town does not operate a sanitary sewer system. However, the Town is a member of the Asheville/Buncombe Metropolitan Sewer District which provides service to every section of Town.

Town of Weaverville Cleanup This Month

by Dottie Sherrill
Commissioner

The week of April 16 has been designated as Weaverville's Town Cleanup Week. During these warm spring days, the Weaverville Appearance Committee is encouraging all residential and business owners to spend some time around their properties tidying up to make a more beautiful entrance to their home or business. We want Weaverville to be the best kept Town in Western North Carolina.

Weaverville's year 2001 Litter Spring Cleanup will be held on Saturday, April 28. This is a campaign also initiated by the Weaverville Appearance Committee with the cooperation of Quality Forward to pick up trash on designated streets within the Town. Concentrated areas will include Weaver Boulevard, Main Street, Merrinion Avenue and Reems Creek Road. Any individual who is interested in helping the group pick up trash would be very welcomed. We need all the help we can get plus the more workers, the more trash that will be picked up.

Any persons joining the campaign need to meet on April 28 at 10:00 a.m. at Arby's on Weaver Boulevard. Arby's will provide nourishment to all those that participate. Individual troops will be organized and assigned areas. Working time will begin at 10:00 a.m. and end at noon. Quality Forward will provide everyone with gloves, vests, and trash bags. They will also furnish soft drinks after the litter pickup has been completed.

The Weaverville Police Department along with the Weaverville Fire Department will check on groups along the way. The Weaverville Public Works Department will be responsible for picking up all the bags of trash. Last spring, the group enjoyed themselves, and the Town of Weaverville was much prettier because of the efforts of a few. Please come join us April 28. No need to call, just show up at Arby's at 10:00 a.m.

The Rock In Front Of The Weaverville United Methodist

by Dottie Sherrill

Commissioner

(as told by Louise Wright)

Louise Wright, a resident of Weaverville and a member of the Weaverville United Church, reported in the Church newsletter in October 1977 the history behind the large rock in front of the Methodist Church on North Main Street. Even if you are not a member of this congregation, you probably have noticed the rock on the left side of the walkway leading into the Church. Its history is quite fascinating.

The large gray granite stone has been at its present location for over six decades. It has weathered the bitter cold of winter and has been impervious to the heat of the summer sun. It has seen millions of people walk by and millions of cars dash in front of it.

The rock was placed there by Rev. Homer Casto, a then resident of Weaverville, who had wanted something native of the area to serve as a marker for the church. In the early 1940s, he and another Weaverville resident, Monroe Cooper, spotted the huge stone in an old quarry on the Sevier farm off the Old Knoxville highway. He saw in it strength, solidarity and durability — all qualities of good Christian people. Arrangements were then made with the owner of the quarry to give the stone to the church. The stone was hoisted by machinery on a wreckcr from Weaverville's Reagan and West garage, owned by John A. Reagan and Troy West.

The stone was put in place by tremendous human effort as its estimated weight is 1,200 pounds. Mr. Casto would not let anyone change the shape of the stone in any way. It remained rough hewn as it came from the quarry. Some months later, a bronze plaque was placed on the rock with the words "Methodist Church."

It stands as a reminder of Rev. Casto, who was pastor in the former Methodist Protestant Church and owned a small sanatorium for tubercular patients in a big white house on Hamburg Mountain. The house still stands on the right side as one enters Perion Drive, but is now gray and is a private residence. Mr. Casto, also a poet and author, in later years lived on Church Street with Margaret and Monroe Cooper, who took care of him. Mrs. Cooper still resides there,

First Spring Art Safari Weekend Scheduled

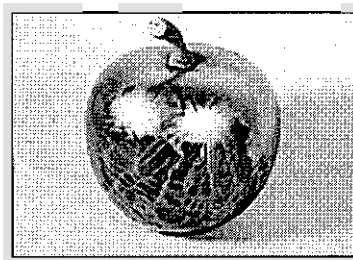

More than 20 artists in this mountain community will open their studios to the public at Weaverville's first Spring Art Safari weekend.

The artists, in cooperation with the town's three bed and breakfasts and Freedom Escape Lodge, will demonstrate their craft and display their work from 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. April 28 and 29.

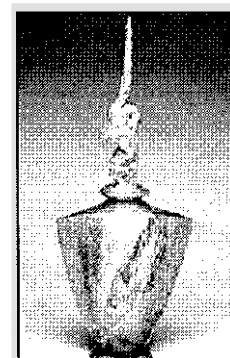

All the studios are within a short drive of Weaverville, and some will exhibit at the B&Bs. The artists' media include pottery, fiber arts, jewelry, baskets, polymer clay, paper and prints.

Self-guided tour guides will be available the day of the Safari at Weaverville restaurants plus Inn on Main Street, 88 S. Main Street, Dry Ridge Inn, 26 Brown St., and Secret Garden B&B, 56 N. Main St., as well as at Freedom Escape Lodge.

You may also request a brochure by e-mail at safari@innonmain.com.

Artist Steven Forbes-deSoule's unique raku sculpture and vessels are a result of 25 years experience as a ceramic artist. His work is part of private, corporate and museum collections both national & internationally.
